

NATURE vraiment MORTE

Hortense Thibault-Briffaut

Hortense in her latest series, works with still lifes. Dead, but not so much. Vegetables bleed, fruits crack, colors burst like wounds. We no longer know if it's a kitchen or a silent battlefield. Something is being said there, something whispered, somewhere between beauty and unease, between banality and gentle violence.

Hortense paintings still breathe. Sometimes they creak. Sometimes they scream softly. They are alive but weep for the suffering of the world. Like her.

Hortense is a french artist, painter, writer and queer activist.

This pop-up exhibition is only for 1 day ! A few hours to transform the space and invite people to an unusual experience ! With french electroDJ Ultradouce.

The pop-up concept is a mix of art, music and wine degustation.
